iNACOL Welcomes Opportunities to Work with Obama on Online Learning

Vienna, VA, November 5, 2008 – iNACOL looks forward to working with the new United States president and administration to further access to online learning in the United States.

Susan Patrick, President & CEO of iNACOL said, “This election will mark a turning point for the United States. iNACOL looks forward to working with the new administration to ensure all students have access to a world-class education and quality online learning opportunities that prepare them for a lifetime of success. iNACOL is ready to work with the White House, U.S. Department of Education, and Congress on issues that expand high-quality, online learning opportunities for all students.

We thank President-elect Obama for supporting online learning, virtual schools and educational technology during the campaign in his education proposals and look forward to working with him on implementing them.”
