iNACOL to Host Webinar on Response to Intervention Online

VIENNA, VA, January, 11, 2011 – The International Association for K-12 Online Learning (iNACOL) is hosting a webinar called “iRTI: Response to Intervention Online” to examine how Response to Intervention (RTI) looks in an online environment and how to provide interventions and utilize data for student, teacher, and school improvement.

Join Spring Independent School District as they present their RTI model for online interventions. Learn how STAT, student and teacher assistance teams, operate in an online environment and how data is utilized and technology is used to support interventions and track student progress in the online environment.

According to Patrick, “RTI is a multi-step approach to providing services and interventions to struggling learners at increasing levels of intensity. Online learning environments blended with digital resources and live teachers providing student supports any time, any place enables new models for RTI that helps build on data, personalization and individualizing approaches for student success. This webinar will address what online RTI looks like and the value of it for all types of learners.”

Speakers include Regina Owens (Administrator), Kienia Green-Brooks (Educational Technologist), Rebecca Long (Lead Counselor), Kristina Spencer (Counselor), and Vicki Perritt (Learning Specialist), from Spring ISD Virtual School (Texas).

This webinar is part of the iNACOL Leadership professional development series and will be held Wednesday, January 12, 2011, from 2:00 - 3:00 PM (Eastern) via Elluminate. Please register online: <http://www.inacol.org/events/>. Pricing is available for members and non-members. Press may attend free of charge by contacting Wendy Fleming.
