iNACOL Announces Virtual School Symposium 2010 Conference Sessions

VIENNA, VA, July 16, 2010 – The International Association for K-12 Online Learning (iNACOL) hosts the Virtual School Symposium (VSS). The theme is: "Online and Blended Learning: The Future of Education." The conference will be held November 14 – 16, 2010 at the Renaissance Glendale Hotel and Spa in the Phoenix metro area. Registration is open and iNACOL is pleased to announce that the pre-conference and conference sessions have been selected for 2010. The complete conference agenda can be found online at: www.virtualschoolsymposium.org/agenda.php.

Online learning is an important innovation in K-12 education. Online and blended learning provides solutions for college-readiness, credit recovery, expanding access to highly effective teachers for core and advanced online courses, as well as personalizes instruction for students across the K-12 grade-levels. The VSS conference provides professional development for K-12 administrators, policy leaders and practitioners; important networking opportunities; access to expertise and analysis, trends and research; and thought-provoking sessions for leaders looking to help shape the future of education. For more information, please visit: www.virtualschoolsymposium.org.

Registration for the conference is open with an "early bird" discount for a limited time. Register online at: <http://www.virtualschoolsymposium.org/registration.php>.
